

FTI Technology helps clients manage the risk and cost of e-discovery with confidence.

From forensic data collection to fully managed document review services, we collaborate with our clients to deliver strategic solutions tailored to their unique legal requirements. With keen focus on the productivity and defensibility of document review, our clients rely on us to address matters ranging from internal investigations to large-scale litigation with global e-discovery requirements.

E-DISCOVERY SOFTWARE & SERVICES

Computer Forensics & Investigations

Our professionals understand the technical intricacies and legal implications of data preservation and collection, as well as the international protection and privacy issues that apply to electronic documents in these contexts. We can help design defensible strategies to preserve, collect and analyse electronically stored information (ESI) regardless of format, language or location.

FTI Investigate – Provides a mobile e-discovery and document review offering for on-site investigations comprised of expert forensic investigators and leading e-discovery technology. With the ability to deploy in a matter of hours, legal teams can increase efficiency, reduce costs and speed the understanding of core issues surrounding an investigation—even while early investigative interviews are taking place. Our team can collect, process and review massive amounts of documents without having to transfer the electronically stored information (ESI) off-site to another jurisdiction.

Document Review Software

Ringtail® - Best known for its market-leading scalability and performance, Ringtail gives legal teams powerful workflow management tools, the ability to search across millions of documents in seconds, and the most flexible production capabilities available. And Ringtail is the only document review platform featuring both linear and visual review tools to dramatically improve the speed and consistency of review teams. Ringtail can be deployed on-premise or the software can be used as a service with Ringtail On-Demand.

Managed Document Review

Acuity® - A smarter approach to managed document review, FTI Acuity is a comprehensive e-discovery and document review offering. Our approach is collaborative, and your budget is predictable. With advanced technology, innovative workflows and a single point of accountability, Acuity managed document review produces defensible results, simply and efficiently. With Acuity you can meet deadlines, stay within budget, and trust the review quality.

Discovery Consulting

FTI Technology is a recognised industry leader in managing e-discovery projects of any scale or complexity. Our e-discovery professionals can work as an extension of your team to develop strategies for pre-litigation readiness and provide discovery strategy consulting to help you secure the best possible results for any matter. We have been trusted by clients to work on some of the biggest cases making global headlines. Our team's expertise and global reach spans a wide range of legal, regulatory and investigative situations.
